RUN No 2212 53 Newlands St Trevallyn Hare: Scary

LH3 Hash

Weekly Bull Shit (new Boong size font for easy reading)

Run report for run 2212 Hare Scary – Another Trevallyn Run.

The drought has broken Matthew Groom's prayers have been answered, but did it have to happen on a Tuesday night. Scary has returned saturated from setting the run, if he had a push bike he could have set the run before the rain started. ON ON calls Scary as he towels the water from his hair. The run is on sign posts the first is on the Hydro pole at the corner of Newlands and Cherry Rd. Tyles has arrived early and leads the pack down Mt Newlands. Electric Eric is the first to Cherry Rd and can be heard calling ON ON heading into the darkness towards Pitt Ave. The next stop is at Disease's garage where we find the trail back tracking to Veulalee Ave. which bunches the pack up again. From Veulalee Ave we are off to the Trevallyn shopping centre. Half the pack decide to take a short cut via the Max Fry Hall reserve while the rest head towards Bald Hill Rd. The Bald Hill Rd route proves to be the shortest as Tyles lets the others know as he informs them that they have to back track to the Max Fry Hall for the next clue. The ON Home sign is finally found nailed to a pole outside the Hall. Again the pack splits into two different directions half saying it will be quicker via Cherry Rd and the others opting to go via Forest Rd. Another good run in the Trevallyn area with most of the pack been out in the elements for about 90 minutes.

ON ON:

The rain has gone the Southern Cross can be seen low in the southern sky but there are ominous black clouds lurking around the Legana area will the rain hold off long enough for the ON ON.

Tight Spot has ventured to the north of the island for tonight's run and has been busy in the kitchen cutting up cheese, cabana and other culinary delights for frozen Hashers returning from the run. Unfortunately for the keen Hashers who found the ON Home sign the sludge arse Hashing Bastards who returned early had devoured the food and the plate was bare on their return.

Cray fish is the word of the night, where has Sprockets cray fish gone? Who pigged out on the 2Kg cray fish that sprocket won in the raffle last week then left it in the beer trailer.

There is an old adage what happens at Hash stays at Hash perhaps we will never know the fate of the cray fish. With the current price of Crays at $80.00 a kilo someone has a smile on their face.
