RUN No 2226 9 McCullagh Crt Legana Hare: Tyles

Weekly Bull Shit -

Run report for run 2226 – Tiles – Free Fish & Chip Night for $5

It has been a while since we last visited Legana so what has Tiles conjured up for us on this occasion. As it was his birthday what better way than to proclaim a selfie holiday and have the Hash boys around to celebrate. Only have to get on the bike and set the run, cool the beer, ignite the fire pot and organise the cook. On arrival for the run it was obvious that Tiles had completed all these duties some time earlier and had started the party without us. We were assured of a clearly marked trail under street lamps and no need to take a torch light. Being in a cul-de-sac it's apparent that the run starts back on the corner. Keen fronties take off following the first arrow but in their haste they overrun the trail that had redirected up a laneway to some common ground behind the shopping centre. After two street lights we were in complete darkness and ankle deep mud; then around some easement tracks using the hue of the Woollies car park lights found the trail back onto the main road. Down another dim pedestrian track, thankfully paved and without mud, and back past Lovely Banks this on a Pushbike with a six pack of travellers in the carry basket so circumnavigating every street on the way to Bindaree Road was not a problem for him, nor did he have any problem with lighting as this was provided by a mass of 1989000000000000000000000000000kg burning in nuclear fusion several hundred million tons of hydrogen per second to give a lumen output approximate to the light Pash wears on his head. A hiccup in finding the trail soon led to Goblet confessing he had inside info of the trail where-about as he had spotted Tiles earlier in his day on pushbike. Indeed, there in the mud and on the pavement the drunken tyre marks of said push bike leading to the next lay down of arrows. “Don’t need a torch” he had said as we entered another open space deficient of incandescence and through a subdivision expansion that hadn’t reached the street light installation stage as yet. There was a bit more fumbling in the twilight zone before finding the artistic ON HOME  and emerging back onto Freshwater Point Road to beer. The good run more than mak-

ON ON

Possibly the best run fire of this winter was aglow as Hash Cash took an extra $5 for the free feed night. Tiles had been out fishing the day before and had scored a prized 200 lb Isurus Oxyrinchus, better known as Shortfin Mako. Throwing it on the back patio said to his cook "Fillet this and fry it up for the boys with a few chips while I have a beer" and that is how it happened – the Tyler womenfolk crafting the perfect memorable feast in ample quantity..... while Tiles drank beer.
