RUN No 2233 67 Havelock St Summerhill Hare: Bugsy

Weekly Bull Shit -

Run report for run 2233 – Buggy - Thursday Rerun Tuesday Run

Bugsy was far too busy to set a traditional run as he had to help Magpie pack her knickers ready for her early flight leaving at first light. Who in their right mind would book a flight on a Wednesday morning after Tuesday night Hash? Magpie is entering sabbatical in an attempt to find herself whilst exploring the indigenous heritage with walkabouts in Uluru, then across the big Nullarbor to the dreamtime Arnhem Land and spiritual enlightenment at Kakadu. Bugsy though is far too busy and so excited to be left alone for a couple of weeks to pull the house to bits and rearrange the layout - aahhh house renovations without the echoes of

C-r-r-a-a-i-i-g-g!! C-R-A-A-I-G-G!! – No disrupting the autistic handyman flair. Another attempt at the old left/right run routine will surely save some time. This left/right run has very low risk of failure; out of the 21 instructions 17 of them are first left or first right i.e. 1L or 1R - much less chance of the SFW stuffing this up ya. The run was also kept very close to home, in fact, passing the front gate mid stream. To hedge the failure risk even further Bugsy had the Thursday night aka “other club” stooges practice the gig the previous week - albeit slightly changed in a lame attempt to avoid assorted accusations. The ON HOME was clearly laid at the end of a series of R's, 1R, 2R, 3R, 1R, had it not been found the pack would have disappeared up its own arse without a trace. Yes Bugsy a successful L/R run; entertaining in a dreary way; a good run overall.

ON ON:

The on-home leg gave a vista to rival Hiroshima circa -August 1945; a mushroom plume of smoke that blotted out all the heavens. Bussy had gathered wood for the fire pot from the local common; unfortunately it had moisture content of 135% but somehow Bussy managed to get it burning with devastating consequences to the environment. We thought the acrid blue smoke had bought a tear to Scarys eyes until it was revealed that tears commenced as Bussy was caught burning pristine pine 4X2's Scary said he could have built half a room in his daughter new house with what went up in smoke. Magpie kindly provided the multitudes with a last supper before retiring to meditate in contemplation of the spiritual journey before her. Wasn't long before the Monk's bell tolled and Blakey addressed the circle. The grails were given; -
