Weekly Bull Shit -

Run report for run 2244 - Delly's 3 1/2 Hour Quickie Run

Yes, with the pace of a racing three-toed sloth, Delly has set a marathon run. Rumour quickly spread that Delly had taken a twist over 'a bridge' and the randomness of the route caused him to be out for such a long duration. Maybe 'the bridge' was Kings Bridge or Henry Street Bridge? - no, no, no, it was a pissy little footbridge over a culvert below the dog shitting area. Intrepid hashers were up to the task and boldly took on the longer challenge only to find that loop on the banks of the South Esk joined back into the shorter track soon after the remaining pack had passed. All runners were within calling distance (except ABBA because he doesn't call) when the trail took to the Duck Reach/First Basin track. Delly's ample use of lime was easily seen, indeed so easily seen that it was possible to glimpse the trail direction through undergrowth and predict where it emerged out onto Corin Street. So where was the remaining three hours of the run to go? This question was soon answered when the on home was discovered – of course, its 3 ½ hours Delly time – when Delly's speed is multiplied by 3 ½ hours this equates to a run duration of less than 45 minutes. Keen naturists or those that follow Richard Attenborough will know that the three-toed sloth has a maximum speed of 0.003 Miles per hour or in metric terms 0.00483Km/h. That would be about par for this course given that Delly took 3 ½ hours to set it. Sloths move so slowly that algae are able to grow on them so I reckon that if Delly didn't shower regularly he too would be a viable host for this plant like organism. A good run set by Delly and a personal 3 ½ hours proof of his dedication to Hash.

ON ON:

Is it coincidence that Delly's yard has tall trees and three-toed sloths live in tall trees? The committee administrators have commandeered the patio to carry out their financial obligations and the area is a haze of raffle tickets and $5 notes – awesome, the scene would rival Wall Street during a market surge.

It was nearly a dry night at hash this week and I am not talking about the weather. Sheilas new beer cooler he has bought along in Boongs absence has failed its second test will there be beer tonight??. I have never seen so many experts lend a hand to make the cooler function.

Blakey has returned from deaths door to take the Lip session, he is taking it easy for a while - Not sure how someone that sits on their arse all day can take it any easier than they already have it?

ON Downs:

Delly gets a drink for his 3 ½ hour ordeal.

Electric Eric gets to celebrate. He has finally paid Tiles outstanding money and saved a call from the collection agency – Tiles bought a new family wagon from the proceeds.

Goblets Rigged Raffle:

Goblet's ASX approved raffle was drawn. Proceeds from this go directly to the Annual Change over Dinner, returning the benefits to those that participate throughout the year. This benefit has traditionally been extended to one of a partner, wife, or girlfriend. The annual dinner can easily run to many thousands of dollars so Goblet's work eases the economic stress on the dinner guests and the committee funds, making for an enjoyable celebration. The raffle nights offer quality prizes, meat and food for both rich and underprivileged hashers alike as well as providing untold entertainment.

Pash - Family pack

Thumbs – wine

Sheila – car care kit

2-Bob – wine

Inlet – meat tray

As you can see – this week it was a clean sweep for the underprivileged.

Joke of the Week

Three desperately ill men go to their doctor seeking help. One is an alcoholic, One is a chain smoker and the other is gay. The doctor tells the men if you indulge in any of your habits again you will die. So the three men leave and then the alcoholic sees a bar and hears its loud music and can't resist. He orders a shot of whisky drinks it and suddenly drops down dead the other two men walk out side realising how serious this is, but then the chain smoker sees a half a cigarette on the ground still burning so the gay guy says to the chain smoker "if you bend over to pick that up were both dead"

THE ASS END OF THE TRASH

I must admit I got lost in the bush setting tonight's run

OMG Delly

How could Delly get lost in the Summerhill reserve

We will never know we got lost before we got to the reserve
