Run report for run 2208 Spyder – Deja vu Run

Yes you may have thought it was Groundhog Day; back in Summerhill for the second consecutive week. Spyder's trail getting no more than a stones throw from the On On when confusion and mayhem struck; Shrek called the trail on arrows from last weeks run. For the first of many times Fingers was heard to say "that's one of mine" referring to the arrow the pack had followed. Checking back the true trail was found and eventually cut through Willow Lane when again Fingers was heard "that's one of mine". Indeed it was but placed in the vicinity was the fresh trail "that's my check" Finger's pointed the check that had been crossed out and replaced with new directions. Adding more bewilderment were/are permanent arrows that some dickhead has spray painted. Down the hill – (Haven't they done wonders with Ballpoint's old house? – new kerbing and reseal too since he had moved) to Old Tudor, up a laneway into the old clay pits subdivision. The On Home found in dim light as a result of Daylight Saving finishing for another season. A good short run not deviating far from home. There has been no rain to wash previous trails away so let's see if 2Bob can bamboozle us in the next Summerhill instalment by overlaying these runs.

The ON ON:

The pack returned to tomato soup and bread rolls that Trish/Spyder had generously prepared. Less popular were the chillies that Sheila had donated to unsuspecting hashers – Sprocket complaining that his lips were still numb hours later. Spyder has erected a portable Gazebo while the pack is out on the run it proves popular as a few drops of rain begin to fall but it does not last long enough to add a litre of water to the depleted Trevallyn dam.

Blakey read out the usual quality joke?? Stretch relived the story of when a carefully planned ruse of the raffle prize backfired. I.e. 12 longnecks of Boag Draught had their contents replaced with raspberry cordial and were presented with perfect labelling in a perfect carton. The winner, Butch, was unaware and returned the unopened carton to a certain bottle shop in exchange for Boags XXX, his preferred brew. Try to explain the subsequent fallout from that one Mr Boags.

On Downs:

Sheila – for introducing a new concept of efficiency and innovation to the Lip

Hare – Spyder

Ben – visiting again after evading a drink at previous On On

Raffle:

Questionable goings on in the raffle continues as several “unowned” tickets were drawn before Stretch won the lollies, Bugsy and Boong some cat’s piss. Sprocket was happy as a dog with two dicks after he snared the meat tray.

Joke of the Week:

A Hasher goes to Thailand and picks up a lovely new wife.

A year later his mate at the golf club asks "How's that lovely wife you picked up in Thailand?"

"She died – rather suddenly"

"Oh I am sorry – what happened?"

"Prostate cancer"!!!!

We live in Australia and my Missus decided for the first time to wear a burka for a week just to see what the reaction would be.

The first morning she was sworn at, punched on the nose kicked up the arse and received death threats.

Heaven knows what's going to happen when she leaves the house

*In a pub quiz the other day I lost by one point.
The question I got wrong was, Where do women mostly have curly hair?

Apparently, it's Africa.
